Ratisbon, September 5. On the 2d Inſtant the Archbiſhop of Mecklin arrived here, and on the 4th proceeded on his Journey to Vienna. The taking of Napoli di Romania by the Turks is confirmed, with the following Particulars. An Armenian having diſcovered to the Turks a proper Place to lay a Mine under the Fortreſs of Mount Palamida, they ſprung it with ſo much Succeſs that a good part of the Wall was blown up, and the Garriſon in great Conſternation endeavouring to retire into the City, was attacked by the Janiſaries
